

Statement from AG Jennings on final passage of House Bill 195

The First State is one giant step closer to being a national leader on transparency. I'm thrilled that more than a year's worth of hard work and dedication now means that a statewide body camera program heads to the Governor's desk. This will mean stronger community relationships, trust, and accountability.

This legislation makes Delaware a national leader on body cameras. I applaud everyone – legislators, advocates, police, and prosecutors alike – who made it possible, and I look forward to building on this progress. Onward.
